The Brooklyn Committee of Fifty is seeking no newspaper advertising just now, but that does not mean that it has gone out of the business of trying to secure Seth Low's nomination by the Republican City Convention. Undismayed by its failura to induce the Citizens Union to delay the offer of its nomination to President Low, the Committee has been working energetically to bring the Republicans and the Union together, Mr. Quigg's Republicans and the distribution on the progress of the straight will also enter a crew for this race, which will be ticket proposition are proofs that it has not sucbut its continued activity is not less significant than Mr. Quigg's iterations. Although the Citizens Union managers, when talk for publication, insist that they are planning to put a full ticket in the field, they have inexpedient and have been persuaded that they could well afford to indorse straight Republic county tickets, if a Republican nomination of Low should be secured. The Republicans would be satisfied with nothing less than Union with the research of th isfied with nothing less than Union support for all the city and county offices below the first place

The first choice of the Union as a nominee of the Democratic party for the Mayoraity is William J. Gaynor. It is believed that the new Public Library will come into possession of the books in the library in the City Hall. The library is in the private office of Mayor Wurster at present, and it is said that when the cities are consolidated the books will have to go. The office now occupied by the Mayor will then be occupied by the borough president. There are about one thousand volumes, and few of them are interesting or valuable. Probably two hundred or three hundred of them, however, would prove an acceptable gift to the new library.

MANY OFFICERS "TURNED DOWN Not a little discussion has been caused by the flat refusal of Assistant Secretary Roosevelt to grant the request of Civil Engineer Monocal for a court of inquiry as to his management of the affairs of Dry Dock No. 3, and the placing of double yoke, front and back, at 65c, each. of the Chief Naval Constructor, Francis T. Bowles. One of the incidents of the affair is the illustration given of the amount of red tape erre, in Persian effects, with large pointed collar to be untied before anything can be done. Summer, the Commandant of the Station, Commodore Francis M. Bance, and Captain Arent S. Crowninshield, Chief of the Bureau of Navigation, the executive bureau of the department. All these officers through whose hands the request passed and repassed, it has been learned, indorsed the application favorably Commodore Bunce was not alone in calling atfault, and that the officer was efficient and zealous, but argument and appeal for an aggrieved man to have an opportunity of setting himself right if he could were alike unavailing.

man to have an opportunity of setting himself right if he could were alike unavailing.

Some interesting questions have been raised in connection with the transfer of the work, among them being the point as to whether or not the regulations of the Department have been violated by the Assistant Secretary. A decision of the Court of Claims on the subject of rules says. "A regulation of a Department is a rule made by the head of such Department for its action, under a statute conferring such power, and has the force of law; a mere order of the President or the Secretary of the Department, is not a regulation." This is from "Laws Relating to the Navy." published by authority of the Department. Under Chapter I of the Regulations of the Navy Department, 1886, paragraph 6, reads. "The duties of the Bureau of Yards and Docks shall comprise all that relates to the construction and maintenance of all docks, including drydocks, sibs, wharves, piers, quay walls, and buildings of all kinds, within the limits of navy yards." Chapter XXVII, Section S. speaking of the duties of the Civil Engineer, says: "He shall have control of all civil engineering work, including such repairs and improvements as would ordinarily require the services of at engineer, and shall be held responsible for the proper performance of the same."

The regulations are law, adopted by Congress and approved by the President of the Congress and approved by the Congress an The regulations are law, adopted by Congress and approved by the President, and according to Section 1,547, of the Revised Statutes, are "subject to alterations adopted in the same manner." The regulations as laid down have been set aside by the order of the Assistant Secretary, simply sent as an order and not issued as an amendment to the regulations, and issued as an amendment to the regulations, and issued decision of the Court of Claims if the quoted decision of the Court of Claims will stand, it would seem that some one had in the mean time, work on the drydock cofferlam is being rushed at a rate which will make arge hole in the appropriation before anything saffy tangible is accomplished. Pile-driving machines have been hired, four divers are doing the under-water part of the work, and there is a general air of bustle about the end of the big dock which betokens a determination to push the work ahead as fast as possible. When the bills come in there may be another reckoning. The plans call for 684 sheet piles and 210 guide piles for the coffer-dam, not to mention the piles for the coffer-dam, not to mention the eighty or a hundred platform piles. An outside contractor, who had carefully watched the work for the last week, informed the writer vesterday that it was costing, according to his figures for labor and machines, at least $20 each to drive the guide and sheet piles, which would bring the total cost of that portion of the work alone to more than $17,200, and the total piling cost up to about $20,000, or one-fifth of the entire amount appropriated for the repairs.

It is the general opinion that there is no end in sight to the trouble over the drydock, and it is not pleasant to record the belief expressed yesterday by a man who had much to do with the construction of the dock, that the greater part of the trouble could have been avoided by the Department if those in control had not been so greedy of power and had permitted a competent civil engineer to be at the head of the Bureau of Civil Engineering.

On Monday, September 27, the Board of Managers will hold a meeting in the Y. M. C. A. Hall, at which time subjects of interest to Sunday-school workers will be discussed. On October II the superintendents and their assistants will meet in the Hanson Place Baptist Church for the same pur-pose. At this time the general topic, "The Ses-sions of Our Sunday-schools," will be discussed under the three heads, "How Can They Be Made More Interesting?" "How Can They Be Made More Instructive?" "How Can They Be Made More Votlonal?"

votional?"

On Monday, October 18, the annual meeting of the Sunday-school Union will be held. Reports of the officers will be submitted, and an address will be made by the Rev. Charles Cuthbert Hail, president of Union Theological Seminary. Twelve new managers will be elected in place of those whose terms expire. On October 25 the annual election of

If by the action of the Bridge trustees on the trolley plan to cross and return at the street grade on the New-York side the question of transporting passengers over the Bridge by elevated and surface cars without change and at one fare can be considered settled, the present Board may congratulate itself on having made an end of a very important problem, the solution of which will keep its memory green long after its own dissolution as a "body politic." It only remains now to lay the tracks on the roadways and "complete the circuit" on the New-York end to give new life to the local trolley system, and the sooner it has its cars running the sooner it will begin to realize this fact.

But what is at least quite as taccessary to the comfort and convenience of the public as this is the comfort and convenience of the public as this is the comfort and convenience of the public as this is the comfort and convenience of the public as this is the comfort and convenience of the public as this is the comfort and convenience of the public as this is the comfort and convenience of the public as this is the confort and convenience of the public as this is the confort and convenience of the public as this is the confort and convenience of the public as this is the confort and convenience of the public as composition without reference to what is being done on the surface roads; for those who toll up and down the stairways to and from the Bridge and elevated roads of both cities every day, and twice a day at that, are entitled to the earliest possible complete.

As to the demand of the trolley companies for the public accommodation.

As to the demand of the trustees to consider what the people of this city want than what the railroads desire in the matter. The elevated roads are paying their way to the Bridge, taking private property for the purpose; but no reason can be shown why public property should not be held as involute for the public as private property is for its owners. That is what public se
